euroAtlantic Airways begins Air Zimbabwe London Gatwick–Harare operation

Airbus A330-300 service arranged through Chapman Freeborn commenced on 26 November

Lisbon, Portugal, [DATE OF PUBLICATION] – euroAtlantic Airways ("EAA"), a Portuguese specialist in widebody ACMI and charter operations and a Njord Partners portfolio company, has commenced operations for Air Zimbabwe under a wet-lease agreement supporting the airline's service between London Gatwick and Harare.

The first flight operated by euroAtlantic departed London Gatwick on 26 November 2026. EAA is providing its Airbus A330-300, registered CS-TGJ, together with flight and cabin crews, maintenance and insurance, enabling the prompt continuation of this important connection between Zimbabwe and the United Kingdom.

The operation was arranged through global aircraft charter and aviation solutions specialist Chapman Freeborn. Its ACMI team worked closely with Air Zimbabwe and euroAtlantic to identify and implement a widebody solution within a highly demanding timeframe.

The cooperation reflects euroAtlantic's ability to mobilise long-haul aircraft, experienced crews and operational expertise at short notice, supporting airline partners when continuity, reliability and speed of execution are critical. CS-TGJ, the latest addition to EAA's Airbus fleet, offers Business and Economy cabins for the long-haul journey.

The service also builds on euroAtlantic's long-standing experience in African markets and demonstrates how the expansion of its Airbus fleet complements its established Boeing widebody operations.

Pauls Calitis, CEO of euroAtlantic Airways, commented:

> "We are proud to support Air Zimbabwe and to have brought this operation into service within a particularly short timeframe. Maintaining dependable air connectivity matters to passengers, families, businesses and the wider Zimbabwean economy. The professionalism of our teams, the close coordination with Air Zimbabwe and Chapman Freeborn, and the responsiveness of the authorities involved made this rapid deployment possible. We look forward to building a strong and lasting cooperation with Air Zimbabwe."

Edmund Makona, CEO of Air Zimbabwe, added:

> "The London–Harare service is an important link for our passengers and for Zimbabwe, supporting family connections, tourism, trade and investment. We welcome euroAtlantic Airways as our operating partner and appreciate the commitment shown by all parties in ensuring the continued delivery of the service. We look forward to working together to provide our customers with a reliable and comfortable long-haul operation."

Daniel Huggins, Head of ACMI & Leasing at Chapman Freeborn, said:

> "This operation is a strong example of what can be achieved when airlines, brokers and regulators work together with a shared focus on continuity and delivery. Our ACMI team was pleased to bring Air Zimbabwe and euroAtlantic together and to support the implementation of a suitable widebody solution within a demanding timeframe. We thank both airlines and all the authorities involved for their trust, responsiveness and close cooperation."

The rapid commencement of the operation was made possible by the vital cooperation of the civil aviation authorities in Zimbabwe, Portugal and the United Kingdom. Air Zimbabwe, euroAtlantic Airways and Chapman Freeborn jointly recognise the responsiveness, professionalism and constructive engagement of the Civil Aviation Authority of Zimbabwe, Portugal's National Civil Aviation Authority and the UK Civil Aviation Authority in supporting the required approvals and the timely entry into service.

About euroAtlantic Airways

Founded in 1993, euroAtlantic Airways is a Portuguese airline providing ACMI (Aircraft, Crew, Maintenance and Insurance), scheduled and charter services worldwide. With an Airbus A330 and Boeing widebody fleet, EAA supports airlines, tour operators, governments and other customers across diverse international markets. Headquartered in Carnaxide, Portugal, euroAtlantic Airways is majority owned by Njord Partners.

About Air Zimbabwe

Air Zimbabwe is the national airline of Zimbabwe. With roots dating back to 1946, the carrier connects Zimbabwe domestically, regionally and internationally and supports the country's tourism, trade, investment and social connectivity. Air Zimbabwe is a member of the International Air Transport Association and the African Airlines Association.

About Chapman Freeborn

Chapman Freeborn is a global aircraft charter and aviation solutions specialist, supporting passenger, cargo and ACMI requirements worldwide. Its ACMI and leasing team works with airlines and aircraft operators to provide flexible capacity and operational solutions.

Media enquiries

marketing@euroatlantic.pt